Jérôme Lefèvre

Jérômes wines remain some of the most exciting and unique expressions from the Champagne region we've tasted in years. We've been collecting these for a while and are finally ready to list them!

Jérôme approaches wine less like a technician and more like an artist. A former art critic and curator, he allows each cuvée to begin with an idea, an emotion, an image, or an artistic impulse rather than a desire for consistency or a predetermined style.

Oxidation, elevage, texture, and even the choice between sparkling and still wine become his materials. Technique matters, but it exists in service of expression. The result is wine that can feel beautiful, strange, delicate, challenging, and emotional, often all at once. Yet, somehow, each cuvee retains the most important attribute in consideration for a page in our list: They are just so uniquely delicious!

For Lefevre, the vineyard provides the material, the vintage provides the circumstances, and artistic instinct determines what the wine becomes. Have you ever described a wine like this before? We haven't either... Based way out in the far west Valle de la Marne, Jérôme creates the more classically inspired Champagne Delalot and the experimentally artistic Maison Jérôme Lefèvre.

clos joliette is perhaps the unicorniest of all unicorns. once thought to be the only rival to y'quem, the domaine was recently unearthed by new owners after disappearing from the market for decades. these are among their greatest vintages, listed in ascending order of risidual sugar (rs). there is only one bottle of each wine in our cellar fun old wines, some very old. these are sourced from impeccable cellars throughout the world and we have the utmost confidence in their provenance and condition. we've opened many wines like these and have not found a bad bottle. with that said, these are singular and irreplaceable and therefore will not be guaranteed. buyer beware!

Coffee

we were recently blown away and really wanted to share with this coffee you. hydrangea coffee roasters is based right here in the bay area. these beans are sourced from an incredible farmer named diego bermudez in colombia. the varietal is the prized geisha and the processing is nothing less than mind blowing they call it 'advanced fermentation' because there are so many unique steps taken. but the most important thing is the taste! it tastes like a great cup of coffee but also like nothing you've experienced before. we think these are the most vinous coffees we've ever tasted and hope you are as wild about this liquid as we are.
